An Easter Cake For Panettone Fans

Giusti

A new colomba, the traditional Italian dove-shaped Easter cake and a cousin to panettone, has landed in the United States; it has a lot to offer. The moist, caky confection from Acetaia Giusti, a long-established balsamic vinegar producer in Modena, is not only studded with raisins soaked in balsamico, and lightly marbled with veins of sweet balsamic vinegar mixed with grape must, it's also covered in a network of dark chocolate. It's made for Giusti by Tommaso Muzzi in Umbria, a company known for more than 100 years for its panettone. There's a lot of colomba to go around — at least 12 servings.

Colomba, $44.90, giusti.it, also sold at Eataly.
